Wavell Chinese lounging clothes in wonderful color combinations were set off with exquisite costume jewelry--pearl and shell from Paris and ivory from Honolulu--showing Mrs. Conlan's taste in highlighting costumes through the use of jewelry.

Bright and early Monday morning the SPECTATOR telephones were busy with friends calling to say they had seen our little paper mentioned in Herb Caen's column in the S. F. Examiner. Even if the mention was about a screwy advertisement--thanks Herb.

Many of the Line School students will be ordered as instructors in air training commands on completion of the Line School course in December.

Tax Council Lauds County's Tax Position

Monterey County is now in the enviable position of having the third lowest general county tax rate in California.

Monterey County also has the distinction of being the only county above 63,000 population which did not increase its tax rate this year.

In a study of tax rate trends just released, the Tax Council praised the Board of Supervisors for its courage in acting upon budgetary items, which reduced tax bills throughout the county.

Charles W. Flanagan, tax council manager, stated, "There is a marked correlation between population and tax rates." "As a fast-growing county, we face the probability of higher tax bills in the future."

"Being able to hold last year's reduction in the county rate gave many taxpayers the full benefit of the expiration of several school bond levies," Mr. Flanagan stated.

"Less indifference on the part of some district boards and less apathy on the part of many taxpayers are needed to slow down the upward spiral which present circumstances and existing pressures will otherwise produce," Mr. Flanagan concluded.

Every time I try to wash

Beat our smoky basement fires!

Let it blow and let it pour
I'm not worried any more.
In my dryer's fluffing heat
Clothes dry, sunny-fresh and sweet.

Ladies, an Automatic Home Laundry is a life saver... for you, your clothes, your budget. An electric washer does the hard work, washes everything from dungarees to dainties, quickly, gently, economically. An electric dryer fluff-dries your wash in gales of fresh warm air as sweet and clean as sunshine. An electric ironer does up to 70% of the average family ironing without effort. Combined, this automatic trio saves you days not hours, dollars not pennies! Talk to your dealer about demonstrations.

Best of all, your automatic home laundry operates at bargain rates here in California P. G. and E. rates are among the nation's lowest. Gas and electricity take less than 3¢ of your household dollar.

GO TO THE BALL

On this page are a story and picture about the Hospitality Ball Saturday night at Fort Ord. This ball is not just another entertainment. True, it is that also, but behind it and the reason for it is the welfare of the backbone of our nation--the young men and women of the Armed Forces. The Hospitality Ball tomorrow night is sponsored by the Armed Forces Y.M.C.A. the old USO unit. Its purpose is to raise money to help entertain more than 15,000 service men this Christmas season.

One has but to be living to realize that we are probably on the brink of a third World War. Unless a miracle happens there will be no "out of the trenches by Christmas." These young men and women now stationed on the beautiful Monterey Peninsula will probably be right in the thick of real fighting--if it comes.

Let's do what we can to make this Christmas--away from home--if not a happy one, at least a shared one. Buy a ticket and go to the Hospitality Ball tomorrow night.

Carmel Police-Defense Corps Being Set

A new civilian defense corps, under orders of the Carmel police chief, to act in the event of danger to civilian life or property, is in the process of organization. The ordinance setting up such a ten-man force was authorized last summer shortly after the trouble in Korea began. No action had been taken until last week when Carmel's new police chief Clyde Klaum announced that he was seeking members.

Chief Klaumann reports that six applications have so far been received and that a number of others are wanted. Members must serve a minimum of eight hours per month in active duty and may not be members of any other emergency unit. Applications received by the chief of police will be turned over to police commissioner Andy Martin, who in turn will take them up with the City Council, which will appoint those selected.

SCIENTIFIC PRAYER BRINGS HEALING, WHITNEY SAYS

The key to brotherhood and peace lies in the power of prayer--prayer based on an understanding of the nature and allness of God--declared Arthur C. Whitney of Chicago Tuesday night in a public lecture on Christian Science.

Mr. Whitney challenged the current tendency toward mass hysteria and the helpless fear of war, the atom bomb, and inconceivable destruction. He admitted that Christians today "need to do more than they have ever done before," but he said they have available the weapon of prayer, "the most vital force in the world today."

Saying that much more is being won by Christian prayer than yet appears on the surface, he declared flatly: "Civilization is not headed for destruction."

A former Army chaplain now on extended lecture tour as a Christian Science lecturer, Mr. Whitney was brought to Carmel by First Church of Christ, Scientist. He addressed a large audience in the church edifice on the topic "Christian Science: A Foundation for World Brotherhood and Peace." He was introduced by Mrs. Paul Winslow.

One Man Show Opens Today

Opening Friday, December 1, in the Pebble Beach Art Gallery and the Carmel Work Center in the Lodge shops, is a one man show of the paintings and metal work of Milton Williams, well known Monterey Peninsula artist. The show will run for two weeks, according to Harriet Well, curator at the gallery.

Milton Williams, a native Californian, started painting at the age of six in Burlingame. He visited the Peninsula frequently before actually settling here four years ago. He studied at the San Francisco Academy of Advertising Arts, California School of Fine Arts and, for several years, was a student

Opti-Mrs. Fashion Show Next Wednesday

A fashion show, a Christmas benefit for needy children of Monterey, sponsored by the Opti-Mrs., an auxiliary of the Optimists, will be held in the Sky Room of the Hotel San Carlos, on December 6, at 8 P.M.

This is to be something different from the usual fashion show. It will depict family scenes instead of single models. The scenes will show family groups, during the hours from 8 o'clock in the morning to 11 o'clock at night. Men's and of Matteo Sandona of San Francisco. During the war he was a camouflage artist for Boeing Field in Seattle.

This talented artist will exhibit alls of Monterey, Carmel, Pacific Grove, Stillwater Cove, Big Sur Highway, Salinas Valley, Soledad, Colma and Seattle. He will also show his metal work and driftwood pieces. Photographs to left show Williams at work.

For his metal work he combs the beaches of this area for old copper, Japanese floats, bottles and driftwood. He combines copper and brass with driftwood for candelabras and lamps, and uses floats for lamps also. He uses copper and brass with bottles for copies of old ships' lanterns. He designs metal post lanterns for outdoor use and fixtures and candelabras for interiors.

Please say you saw it in the SPECTATOR...That will help me have a better column. --Betsy Abbott.

THEY'RE STRICTLY GLAMOUR--these full-fashioned 15 denier, 51 gauge hosiery--so sleek, so subtly lovely in a soft sunlight taupe or brown--that PUTNAM AND RAGGETT is offering for one dollar a pair, or a gift package of three pairs for three dollars. The colors are created especially for the new winter outfits. They are flattering, for they do away with "shiny legs" or wrinkles. They are provocatively sheer, because they're made with high-twist thread. This hosiery is available in all sizes and in all lengths. For a fashion-wise gift don't overlook this opportunity to purchase this specially priced hose at PUTNAM AND RAGGETT'S on Ocean Avenue and San Carlos.

FLORAL, GEOMETRIC, SCENIC, STRIPES in wonderfully textured wallpapers, moderately priced, for all types of homes, are available at the CARMEL PAINT AND WALLPAPER COMPANY. The new sample books are in. Some of these papers look like fabrics, for the designers are frankly doing what was done long ago when wallpapers were originated--putting them on walls to reproduce or imitate expensive fabrics. Oriental Fir gives the impression of being strictly modern, whereas actually the tree motif was copied from a very old and beautiful imported fabric that dates back to the time when oriental patterns were used universally with period furniture. Concord is adaptable for both a period or modern home. Streets of Paris, a gay paper, is charmingly designed for a rumpus room. At the Zoo--everything your children would want. The figures have been interpreted with the right amount of whimsy by a famous designer. Now you know where to go for decorative charm in wallpapers--to the CARMEL PAINT AND WALLPAPER COMPANY, on Junipero and Fourth.

IN PAGAN CENTURIES, SOME OF THE MOST DELICIOUS EDIBLE FISHES of the sea were never eaten. They were held sacred--as food so marvelous in flavor that it should be left untouched by mortals. It was only for the gods to enjoy. Through the ages the symbolism of fish is found in one legend after another. In paganism, Christianity, idolatry, romance, prophecy, hieroglyphics, language, astrology and architecture are old themes conjured up by the one word: fish.

SUNNY BOY OF SUNNYBOY PILOT SEAFOOD RESTAURANT, on Fisherman's Wharf in Monterey, says that nice baby lobsters averaging from one to two pounds...from the Santa Cruz Islands off Santa Barbara, will be plentiful from now on. They are 85 cents a pound. They will be split for you and made ready for broiling. Just add your pepper, salt, butter, and place underneath broiler...Will be ready in eight minutes. The crab is sweet and tasty--good size. For 35 cents a pound it will be cracked for you, ready to take home. If you'd rather have your shell fish cooked, SUNNY BOY recommends the lobster thermidor, lobster a la Newburg or deviled crab. They are all superb--the gods couldn't complain.

BE BEAUTIFUL AND FESTIVE in a dress that is frankly designed to rustle and flutter. THE CINDERELLA SHOP has a great and diverse collection of these rustlers. There are swirly dance dresses. One black taffeta, appliqued from top to ankle, with cute black velvet patches, is shaped to make a waistline look minimal, to exhibit bare shoulders at their prettiest, and is cut short enough to show the ankles. A short pale sheath blue crepe dinner-theater dress with a jacket has a rush of sculptured drapery on one side of the narrow skirt. There is a white bodice, quickened with gold lace, unfolding into a full stiff-pleated peplum over cascades of snowy white nylon marquisette skirt fullness. From the creamy curve of bared shoulders to the sweep of sumptuous skirt, look a dazzling young vision...when gowned by THE CINDERELLA SHOP in a pink and blue lace bodice above billowing pink and blue skirt.

Black Alencon lace on a gracious, dignified "twenty" or a lovely blue lace appliqued on the bodice of a crepe dress, also a "twenty," would be just the gift for the grown-up children to give their mother for Christmas. Nothing could be more thrilling than to receive a dress, whether a "nine" or a "twenty," on that festive of festive days. To open a beautifully wrapped gift package from THE CINDERELLA SHOP (next to the Bank of Carmel, on Ocean) would be the height of happiness.

WONDERING ABOUT A CHRISTMAS GIFT? You needn't any longer, for LIAL'S MUSIC STORES, on Ocean Avenue at Monte Verde in Carmel and at 488 Alvarado in Monterey, are stocked with things musical from Magnavox radio-phonographs down to sheet music. There are models on the floor--very reasonably priced--that can be bought right out of the store and delivered under the Christmas tree. LIAL'S MUSIC STORES have everything imaginable in records--from the latest in classical music to miscellaneous popular and children's records. Records--which are certainly most acceptable as a lasting gift--are available in the unbreakable Vynlite classical in the conventional 78 RPM speed, 33 1/3 RPM Long Playing, and all labels in the new 45 RPM speed. In addition, LIAL'S carries musical instruments and a self-service rack for miscellaneous popular records; also a complete line of accessories, such as needles, record brushes and cleaners. And last but not least--how about a gift for yourself? Now is the time to check your inventory of Yuletide music, for there is nothing more pleasant than to walk into a home where appropriate Christmas music is filling the room with good cheer and gladness.

Costume Ball A Success

Members of the Carmel Art Association Gallery are congratulating themselves on the really remarkable success of the costume ball of last Saturday night--the "Feast of Kukulkan," held at the Monterey Peninsula Country Club as a benefit for the Carmel Art Association building fund.

It was truly in the tradition of the great artists' balls held in European cities. It is an astonishing thing, since this was the first such affair in a good many years, that it came off the way it did.

The spectacle was authentically Aztec and very beautiful. Prizes for the most authentic costumes were awarded to Fred and Mary Klepich, students of the Carmel Art Institute, who represented the god of rain and the goddess of water. They designed some of the masks and worked on the decorations. The prize for the funniest costumes went to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Dean, Pebble Beach, for their Mexican jaguar costumes.

Lois MacGregor, as the moon goddess, won the prize for the costume of greatest beauty, and Terry Eby as an Aztec god was awarded the prize for the most beautiful male costume. The part of Kukulkan was played by Craig Cedar, a young Hollywood movie actor, who replaced Mr. S. F. Morse who was ill.

Guests of Mrs. Theo Green of Carmel Point were Mr. and Mrs. George Stoll, musical director of Metro Goldwyn Mayer, who came up to the Peninsula for the occasion.

Wins Hundred Dollars
And New York Trip

Mrs. Helen Van Marter, Camino and First, Carmel, has been named one of the finalists in a nation-wide recipe and baking contest conducted by Pillsbury Mills.

Mrs. Van Marter will go to New York December 11 for the final testing--a bake-off at the Waldorf Astoria ballroom, where $150,000 will be given away in prizes to 75 housewives and 75 girls.

Robert T. Jones, Pillsbury branch supervisor for this area, came to Carmel and presented Mrs. Van Marter with a hundred dollar check and arranged final plans for her all-expense trip to New York.

Mrs. Van Marter earned her success by submitting an unusual recipe for cookies which she says she has baked for the family for years but which, until now, has been a cherished and secret recipe.

During the contest in New York, our local winner has a chance to win the grand prize of $25,000, or a lesser prize.

A Unique Carmel Institution

Joe's Taxi, well-known local transportation company, has been sold, but the traditions and unique services of the company are being continued without interruption. The new owners, George A. Norton and Carmel Realtor John B. Geisen, are aware of the esteem and affection Joe's Taxi holds in Carmel, and they intend to increase the present services to satisfy the needs of a growing community.

When the late Joe Olievero started about 15 years ago, the name Joe's Taxi was precisely the extent of the company. Born in Portugal, Joe never learned to read or write, but by his honesty, hard work and desire to serve, he built the one cab taxi company into the present fleet of eight taxis and one bus.

Mrs. Olievero, better known as Nellie, worked side by side with Joe until his death, and will continue to help the new owners in the capacity of office manager.

Besides maintaining 24-hour taxi service, Joe's Taxi also operates the bus service up the Carmel Valley.

Many and sometimes amusing are the requests made of Joe's Taxi. They are, frequently, asked to call and awake those catching trains or for any other reason need a telephonic alarm clock. Grocery or drug store deliveries are not uncommon. Large groups of children are transported daily to and from the various schools. The dispatcher's desk is a fount of information on any subject from baby sitting to rooms for rent. Not long ago, there was a call from New York asking that a fur coat be taken to the cleaners in preparation for the owner's arrival.

Mrs. Olievero has retained the ownership of the building built by Joe at Junipero and Sixth, leasing the garage and terminal facilities. She has, also, leased the Coffee Shop to Bert and Thelma Johnson.

George Norton, who will actively manage the company, will drive one of the cabs and the bus run when needed. Mr. Norton, a distant relative of Mrs. Olievero, came to the Peninsula from San Francisco where he was associated with the Narcotics Division of the State of California for seven years. He joined Joe's Taxi during the early part of the war but later joined the Navy where he served as a commander. He returned to Carmel and Joe's Taxi about a year ago.

Carmel Work Center Notes

By Carol Tindell

Christmas gifts from Carmel made by the Peninsula's own Craftsmen... what could be more appropriate... and where could you find more beautiful gifts than at the Carmel Work Center's two shops?

Katherine Allen has just brought in some cute little mustard and jam jars in gay colors. If you are looking for a very special gift, her vases or pitchers in her famous Chinese Red would be our solution. A new assortment of Virginia Blair's tiles and plates have just come in also... and delicate sea shells made by Blanche Casey are always welcome gifts. Mrs. Casey has made a collection of shells that can be used for ash-trays, as vases, as center pieces.

"Little Lilli," a most fashionable pig, has joined Harriet Stover's family of little animals... the Blue Danube (a blue Dachshund), Yak-Yak, the pink unicorn, and the Penny Wise Pig.

There are so many beautiful and clever things from which to select your Christmas gifts that we can't tell you about all of them... so just stop in at the shop in the Seven Arts Court or Pebble Beach.

Odd Fact

In Fennville, Mich., a farmer has taught his herd of cows to answer bugle calls. He blows assembly, retreat and, for early morning milking, reveille.

ALVA JOHNSTON DIES IN NEW YORK. Long time well known writer, Alva Johnston, brother of Markham Johnston of Carmel, died last Friday in Bronxville, New York. Mr. Johnston, a Pulitzer prize winner, former newspaper man and a free lance writer for the Saturday Evening Post and The New Yorker, was a visitor to Carmel last summer when the above photograph was made. He was born in Sacramento, California, 62 years ago and made his start in the writing field on the Sacramento Bee. Mrs. Luella Johnston, his mother, who has been living in the Johnston home in New York, is expected to move to Carmel to make her home here. POLAROID One-Minute Photograph.

ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S WHO IS IT?

HAROLD HARPER, elected president of the Peninsula Chamber of Commerce last Monday, is this week's "Who Is It?" Born in Pacific Grove on February 16, 1907, Mr. Harper graduated from school into a position as bus-jockey for the Bay Rapid Transit Company, and has been with the firm ever since that day in 1925. In 1927, when Bay Rapid took over the Charles Goold Bus Line between Carmel and Monterey, Harper assumed the position of assistant manager, and in 1935, became manager. He can still drive a bus on schedule on any of the routes.

LOCAL PHOTOGRAPHER WEDS. George Smith, photographer Carmel Valley, has the tables turned as he poses with his bride of last week, Margaret Lingenfelter. The couple was married in San Jose and are now at home in their residence in Hitchcock Canyon, Robles Del

Married to the former Margaret Dunivant of Pacific Grove, who was a schoolmate from the third grade, he is father of two girls, Marie, 14, and Judy, 10. For eight years Mr. Harper was chairman of Pacific Grove's Planning Commission, and member of the City Council. He is Past Exalted Ruler of the Elks Lodge.

Mr. Harper is no stranger to Chamber of Commerce work, having served as director of the Pacific Grove Chamber for 10 or 12 years, and he has recently been re-elected to succeed himself on the board of the Peninsula Chamber.

Between running a bus line and attending to civic duties, he has little time left over for hobbies, but confesses he "enjoys a little golfing and gardening."

Parents Seldom Suspect When Children Are Jealous

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

MANY parents writing me of behavior problems in the older of two children (often under six) state they are sure there is no jealousy problem, that the parents have shown the older child just as much affection as the younger one, that they had prepared this older child for the coming of the baby, and that they have tried to follow "what you have advised for preventing or reducing jealousy."

I never doubt the sincerity of such statements. I merely doubt the accuracy of the reported observations. As a psychologist, I know that for any person to have no jealousies at all is not to be alive. Moreover, a few good tricks do not necessarily create the desired attitude in the youngster. If he is often stubborn or uncooperative, often restless and excitable and noticeably hard to manage, you can be pretty sure he does not feel wholly comfortable inside, does not feel entirely secure.

Center of Universe

And I can think of no harder problem than the one he faces. You see, he was the center of the universe till the baby arrived. The affection and attention of his parents, relatives, neighbors and adult guests revolved about him. Since the baby's arrival the older child has lost his favorite place. Just because the infant is so helpless he must have much of the mother's time and attention and she naturally feels and shows tender affection toward this infant. Also Dad tends to express pride and strong interest in this baby; and the relatives and other persons do so without restraint.

In consequence, the older child gets less attention. How would you feel if you were in his place? This feeling of his is not a happy one, even though he himself expresses enthusiasm over the baby and wishes often to cuddle it. If the older child is 2, 3 or 4, he may suppose the baby is a plaything or playmate but soon is disillusioned. And if the older child is older than four or five he may feel the loss of emotional security all the more.

Curious Doctrine

Recently I heard a curious doctrine expounded, namely, that the second or third child should be delayed several years in order for each younger child to have time to establish his place in the family. To me this seems absurd, for the longer any one child enjoys the center of attention the harder for him to give up this place. If only the emotional security of each child were at stake, the closer the spacing of the children the better. Besides, closeness in age makes them better playmates. But, for the mother's physical and general welfare, considerable spacing may be very desirable.

Obviously, it is an enormous problem for parents to keep jealousy at low ebb. None should be so foolish as to hope for no jealousy at all, or that jealousy won't continue and ebb and flow as the child grows older. Moreover, while jealousy is found more often in the older child, it can be the worse in the younger.

We parents should put ourselves in our imagination in the place of each child and try to see, understand and feel as he does; endeavor to help each child feel himself worthy in the family group. On this subject I write at length in my special bulletin, "Jealousy," to be had in a stamped envelope.

"Yes, I'm certain I didn't bake it that way!"

Almost Everything uses WATER

Almost everything consumes an amazing amount of water each day. The importance of water in Nature's plan is really astounding. Take vegetables, for instance. They are drinking constantly, always reaching for a quick one. In fact, they drink so much they themselves are mostly water. Corn, for example, is 75.4% water, carrots 88.2%, tomatoes 94.3%.

To provide all the water needed by people and things in a community such as this requires expert knowledge, 24-hour-a-day supervision, and the investment of a great deal of money for equipment. Water must be gathered, stored, kept safe for consumption, regularly tested and finally distributed through a complicated system of pipes, pumps and valves. And the price you pay for it is so low (less than ten cents a ton) that, for value received, water is one of today's best bargains.

THRIFTY DISHES THAT HAVE "ZIP"

By ALICE DENHOFF

WE'LL concede that food prices are higher and the same for taxes. But just the same we are the best fed nation on earth with ample supplies of basic foods and all sorts of things we take for granted that would be deemed luxuries in many another place. And all due to our methods of farming, transportation, packing and marketing.

If the budget shows a bit of a dent, get to work with the old imagination, and prepare basics with a special flourish. A thrifty meat dish—and a fine-flavored one, too—is beef balls baked in tomato sauce. Serve with a green vegetable, and an oven-cooked dessert, such as apple betty, to utilize oven heat, it makes a hearty family dinner on a snappy evening.

Chopped Pepper

To serve 5, combine one lb ground beef with $\frac{1}{2}$ c. finely-chopped onion, $\frac{1}{4}$ c. finely-chopped green pepper, $1\frac{1}{2}$ tsp. salt, $\frac{1}{8}$ tsp. pepper, tsp. Worcestershire sauce, one c. crisp cereal such as crisp rice cereal, and one beaten egg. Form into 10 balls. Roll balls in flour; brown in a little hot fat. Place balls in a large casserole and pour over them a can of condensed tomato soup diluted with a can of hot water. Bake, covered at 350 F. for 45 min.

Here's a meat loaf that will bring forth compliments. Combine thoroughly one lb. ground beef, one c. soft bread crumbs, 3 tbsp. prepared mustard, 2 tbsp. horseradish, tbsp. minced onion, tsp. Worcestershire sauce. Also tsp. salt, $\frac{1}{8}$ tsp. pepper, one beaten egg, and $\frac{1}{4}$ c. catsup. Place mixture in a quart casserole and shape into an oblong loaf. Bake at 350 F. for about 50 min., basting a couple of times with drippings.
